Domino's delivers

Under the heading better late than never comes the news this week that Domino's Pizza Inc. no longer will limit delivery service in minority neighborhoods without hard evidence that its drivers are at risk.

In Washington, D.C., several residents of a black neighborhood sued Domino's for refusing to deliver pizza to customers' doors. They point out that their neighborhood actually has a lower crime rate than other areas where Domino's not only delivers, but actually has outlets.

In an agreement with the Justice Department announced Monday, Domino's exchanged racism for reason. Its managers will consult crime reports and talk to community groups and local businesses before shutting off an area.
